ABSTRACT

Students and parents who wished to contract for improvement in behavior and grades by using a daily tracking sheet. We tracked students for improvement on grades and behavior. The results were mixed.

PROJECT DESCRIPTION

Introduction

- The desired result for each student was as follows: being on time, prepared, acceptable classroom behavior, on task, and respectful. The student would become responsible for monitoring their own behavior by picking up the tracking sheet, having teachers sign, presenting it to parents and bringing it back to the school.

Participants

- Eight students with a mixture of 7th, 8th, and 9th grade students. All were regular education students. Teacher participation has been very strong and has reflected in student improvement. Parents have been very cooperative and have appreciated the information.

Method

- Parent, teacher, student and sometimes administrator conference preceded the initiation of the tracking sheet. Terms were explained clearly both positive and negative consequences were agreed upon and administered at school and at home.
- The project began midterm of first quarter and will continue through the end of the school year.
- The evaluation method was determined through improvement of grades, citizenship and tardies.
- Materials used were the tracking sheets, midterms, report cards, and personal conferences with the counselor.
